The Bottom Line...

Reduce absenteeism. One in three employees took time off work (an average of 13 days) for a legal problem in the last year (Russell Research, April 2007), while 70% of those enrolled in a group legal plan did not take any vacation days toward resolving their legal issues, compared to half of those who hired their own attorney (Harris Interactive, 2011).

Increase productivity. Workers enrolled in a legal plan spent 25% less time resolving their legal matters compared to those who hired an attorney on their own (4.4 weeks vs. 6.1 weeks on average, Harris Interactive, 2011).

Help reduce your employee's stress. Allow our services to help them with everyday life challenges. Up to 90% of the doctor visits in the United States may be triggered by stress-related illnesses, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (USA Today). When employees are stressed from legal or identity theft issues, their health suffers and medical claims may go up.

Keep a progressive company image. Show that you care about your employees. It's reported that 70% of Americans have at least one new or ongoing legal issue each year, and 50% of Americans do not have a Will (Harris Interactive, 2011).

Your employees cannot use the service against your company.
